

SUSPENSIONS FROM RED CROSS

MISS MABEL BOARDMAN'S REPLY TO HER SECOND NOTICE.

She Calls Attention to the Fact That She Was Suspended on March 12 and Is Now Suspended Again and for New Reasons Not Mentioned in the Original Notice.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—Miss Mabel Boardman, who was one of the twenty-two members of the Red Cross who were suspended by the action of the executive committee in New York on Monday because of alleged criticism of Miss Clara Barton, its president, to-day made public her letter in reply to the notice of her suspension served upon her by Chairman Phillips of the executive committee. Miss Boardman calls attention to the fact that she was suspended on March 12, and that she was now suspended again and for new reasons not mentioned in the original notice.

DEAR SIR: In reply to your communication of March 23 I desire to say that in your letter of March 12, notice was given to me of the suspension of my name from the Red Cross, which I received with surprise and indignation. I had no knowledge of the action of the executive committee, and I had no opportunity to be heard in my own defense. I had no knowledge of the fact that I was suspended, and I had no opportunity to be heard in my own defense. I had no knowledge of the fact that I was suspended, and I had no opportunity to be heard in my own defense.

DEAR MADAM: We are in receipt of your letter for the 18th inst., which is shown to me with deep interest. It contains much matter of which we had no previous knowledge. The letter contains a statement which shows the feeling on your own and Mrs. Logan's part toward the Red Cross, and it is such as to be extremely gratifying to this committee.

It would, therefore, seem just, as the full correspondence had proved me not guilty of the offense upon which, according to your notification, I was suspended. I have received notice that the act of suspension had been taken, and I have been informed in this second communication that you give an entirely new reason for my suspension, not mentioned in the original notification.

Coming now to your attitude toward the American National Red Cross, which is shown by your memorial to Congress, and our action in suspending you from active membership, your explanation is that you are not in sympathy with the Red Cross, and that you are not in sympathy with the Red Cross, and that you are not in sympathy with the Red Cross.

After calling attention to the refusal of Chairman Phillips, of the executive committee, to furnish her a list of the members of the Red Cross so that she might know who were to be the judges on the final hearing of her suspension, Miss Boardman says:

Exception is taken by Miss Clara Barton's associates in the Red Cross to the statements from Washington that the Washington protesters who have been declared suspended from membership, question the legality of this or any action taken by the executive committee of the Red Cross.

It was said yesterday on behalf of Miss Barton that the executive committee was regularly appointed under the by-laws adopted at the first annual meeting of the Red Cross at the passage of the act of Congress, in 1900, under which the organization exists. The particular by-law in point provides that the executive committee shall be chosen by the president.

One of Miss Barton's associates gave as sufficient reason why the New Yorkers who sent to her, for a memorial to Congress in support of the Washington's protest were not dealt with by the executive committee, that they were not and never had been members of the Red Cross. These New Yorkers, the list of whose signatures sent to Washington was headed by that of Bishop Potter, did auxiliary Red Cross work here during the Spanish war, and, as it was said, had not been, even at that time, members of the organization.

The opinion was expressed further, but unofficially, that the memorial of the New Yorkers was sent to Washington without a full knowledge on the part of the signers of what the facts of the case were, and that were a project to support the New Yorkers now some of the most important of them would not make themselves party to it. It was said that that New York memorial, although but recently published, had been sent to Washington many months ago.

Herr von Holleben Retired and Decorated. WASHINGTON, April 8.—Baron Speck von Sternburg, the German Envoy, to-day notified Secretary Hay that Herr von Holleben, his predecessor as Ambassador to the United States, had been retired owing to continued ill health, and that the Emperor had conferred upon him the Order of the Red Eagle for distinguished services. It is understood that Sternburg will now be appointed full Ambassador.

Through the retirement of Herr von Holleben, Count Cassini, the Ambassador of Russia, will become dean of the Diplomatic Corps in Washington, a position of honor to which Herr von Holleben succeeded upon the death of Baron de Plessen, the British Ambassador, on May 24, 1902.

INSTALLING MR. O'CONNELL.

A Notable Ceremony Planned at the Catholic University.

About one hundred New York priests will go to Washington to attend the installation of Mr. O'Connell as rector of the Catholic University on April 22. This ceremony is without precedent in the history of the university, and the occasion will be a notable one. Hundreds of priests, several thousand seminarians and students from the Catholic institutions in and near Washington will be present, with most of the alumni of the university, and many prominent residents of the capital and New York.

Cardinal Gibbons will introduce the new rector and officially declare him the president of the university. Bishop Conboy will deliver the welcoming address, after which Mr. O'Connell will outline the plan and scope of the work of the university as mapped out by Pope Leo XIII. On the following afternoon Mr. O'Connell will assist Cardinal Gibbons in laying the cornerstone for the new Apostolic Mission house. Father Doyle, of the Pauline, who is collecting the funds for this institution, will be accompanied to Washington by a score of prominent New Yorkers who have contributed to this work. Archbishop Keane of Dubuque, former president of the university, will deliver the address.

On the following afternoon the ground will be broken for the House of Studies for the Dominican order. Father Logan, Prior of the Dominican order, will go from here to reside on this occasion.

The lowest diplomatic title aboard will be that of Chargé d'Affaires. Nine diplomats, including the French Ambassador and the Spanish Minister, will take their wives along.

The representatives of this country on the train will be headed by Francis B. Loomis, the First Assistant Secretary of State; five members of the Cabinet, Admiral Dewey, Gen. Miles and Gen. S. B. M. Young, president of the War College, and a special representative of the War Department. The train will leave Washington at 5 P. M. on April 28 on the Pennsylvania Railroad, and will reach St. Louis the next afternoon. EGGING "M'FADDEN'S FLATS."

Ulica Hibernians Indorse the Action of Their Brethren in This City.

URICA, April 8.—The recent egging of "McFadden's Flats" in New York City, Philadelphia meets with the approval of the local Hibernians, who have adopted resolutions on the subject. Division No. 6, A. O. H., last night expressed the sentiment of Ulica Hibernians in the following resolution:

We do not make war on legitimate comedy, where the Irishman is the target, but where there is some semblance of Irish wit, but we protest against any and all egging of the American people, and we will not tolerate any and all egging of the American people, and we will not tolerate any and all egging of the American people.

RENEWS THORNE ESTATE FIGHT.

John B. Huff Seeks to Oust Mrs. Brantingham From Part of Property.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., April 8.—John B. Huff brought suit in the Supreme Court at White Plains to-day against Mrs. May Thorne Brantingham and Henry S. O'Brien for property in Ossining which he says, they are withholding from him.

According to the complaint Mrs. Brantingham, on or about May 1, 1901, coerced upon Mr. Huff, her husband, and caused him to execute a deed conveying to her and her husband, and since then she has unlawfully kept possession of them.

Mr. Huff is the husband of Mrs. Eunice B. Huff, who, after years of litigation, was defeated by Mrs. Brantingham of Staten Island in their fight for the estate of Joseph Thorne, a wealthy inventor.

The property involved in the new action is said to be a part of the estate which was involved in the other suit.

The President's Order to Diplomatic and Consular Officers.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—Publicity has been given by the State Department to an order issued by President Roosevelt, forbidding diplomatic and consular officers from making statements in the press respecting other diplomatic and consular officers. The order was based on the freedom with which some United States representatives abroad have aired in the newspapers their troubles with superiors and subordinates. The order says that "hereafter no officer of the diplomatic or consular service of the United States shall attack or prefer charges against or publicly criticize any other officer in the service, except in a confidential communication to the Department of State."

POST OFFICE INVESTIGATION.

ALLEGED CROOKED WORK IN THE SUPPLY DIVISION.

Its Chief Accused of Collusion With a Contractor—More Serious Charges Against Postmaster-General Payne's Confidential Secretary and Others.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—Investigation was begun to-day into Case No. 8 in the Post Office Department's catalogue of scandal. Inspectors have been detailed to make a thorough inquiry into the methods of the supply division of the department under the control of Mr. W. Louis, to ascertain the truth of the charges made against that officer yesterday by the firm of Bingham & Co. of Philadelphia, alleging that no honest contractor had any chance in competition for post office contracts, that Louis has been in collusion with the Washington firm of Herman Baumgarten, manufacturer of rubber stamps, taking orders and printers' supplies, and that inferior supplies furnished by this firm were passed by Mr. Louis for a consideration.

No steps will be taken with regard to scandal No. 9, alleging that H. H. Rand, Postmaster-General Payne's confidential secretary, and other high officials of the department are officers of a mining company whose stock has been forced on employees of the postal service by the mining company, where; that Rand, in his capacity as an assistant superintendent of the salary and allowance division, under George W. Bell, who was recently forced to resign and whose administration is now under investigation, travelled around the country on a Government commission to transact business with the mining company, and that he was in collusion with the mining company, and that he was in collusion with the mining company.

The Wanamaker Store

Easter Clothes for Men

IT is not too late for the most particular man to buy his Easter suit or overcoat, thanks to the high character of the WANAMAKER Ready-made Clothing. The difference between ready-made and tailor-made nowadays is largely a matter of fuss and fitting; the rest of it is tedious waiting, and the guess work as to whether you will like the fabric as well after it is made into a suit as you liked it in the piece goods on the roll. Fine tailoring can be done on a ready-made suit just as well as one made to order.

The WANAMAKER policy of improving clothing to the utmost has impelled the most expert tailoring for the making of the finer clothing. The matter of fit is provided for by the enormous variety of size proportions carried in stock. The little details necessary to make a suit conform to a peculiarity of figure are arranged by an expert tailor, just the same as if you were trying on your suit that had been made to order.

Thus in WANAMAKER clothing you get the utmost style, the very highest character of fabrics that are made at home or abroad—strictly all-wool and thoroughly sponged before cutting; you get the most expert tailoring—every garment is silk-sewed, collar hand-padded, the buttonholes hand-made; with linings as luxurious as you wish to select; and you also get a perfect fit, and yet have the suit sent home promptly for immediate wear.

Here are some suggestions of the pre-Easter stock.

Cutaway Frock Suits, for the man who doesn't care to wear a double-breasted frock. Of black thibet, serge-lined, at $15. Of black unfinished worsted, silk-lined, at $20, $25 and $30.

Men's Sack Suits, of the newest fancy chevots and neat worsteds; single and double-breasted; some of the trousers are cut wide at knee and small at bottom, others medium width for the conservative dresser. Prices, $12, $15, $20, $25 and $30.

Beautiful Hats For Easter Wear

THE pre-eminence of WANAMAKER Millinery in New York has been abundantly demonstrated during the show days of the past few weeks. Our Millinery Salon still presents abundant selection of hats from the foremost Parisian modistes; and we have been told that our importations this season have been handsomer than ever before. But our public, as we have discovered, is more interested in the charming hats that come each day, fresh and original, from our own workrooms.

This pre-Easter week we have made unusual preparations, and each morning we bring forward hats that seem to be more charming than any that have preceded them. And perhaps the chiefest charm of all about WANAMAKER Millinery, is the individuality of every hat produced. There is never any duplication. It is impossible for any two people to get the same hat, if bought at WANAMAKER's—no copy work is done in our workrooms. Our experts put a new idea into every hat they construct.

Women who have not yet decided on their Easter hat will find gratifying solution of the perplexing question at WANAMAKER's today. A magnificent collection of the most artistic hats made in America is here for your selection.

Second floor, Tenth street.
